DETAILED ACTION

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 5/2/08 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 72 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 72 recites the limitation "said axes" in line 12. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 3732

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 70, 72, 74 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Newlin.

Newlin discloses a hair clip comprising an elongate hollow body (26) shaped to extend around a region for receiving hair (Applicant is noted that when the comb 12 extends out from the body 26, region 28 is capable to receive hair) from a first pivot portion (at 32, fig. 4) to a second pivot portion (at 32), jaws (14, 16) having teeth (18) and wing portions (40), said jaws being pivotally connected to said pivot portions (at 30) of the body such that when jaws are in closed position the teeth meet and the jaws define a volume for receiving hair, a spring arrangement (32) for biasing the jaws in the closed position.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 71, 73, 75, 76 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Newlin.

Newlin discloses the essential claimed invention and further shows the spring being concealed between the body and jaws when the jaws being in the closed position (Applicant is noted that the term "conceal" is very broad and fig. 4 shows a part of the spring 32 being concealed between the body and the jaws, therefore it meets the claimed limitations); Newlin fails to show part of the body, the jaws being part cylindrical, however, it would have been obvious to one having an ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to construct the body and the jaws being a substantially cylindrical shape, since such a modification would have involved a mere change in the shape of the known component. A change in shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. In re Rose, 105 USPQ 237 (CCPA 1955).
